WIFE CAN'T COLLECT DAMAGES

Mrs. Elsbury, Wife of Titanic Victim, Unable to Collect Damages for Death

VICTIM LIVED AT GURNEE

Attorney Finds That Amount for Which Co. is Liable is Insignificant; Will Receive only Fare Paid

Mrs. James Elsbury who lives just west of Gurnee, and whose husband was one of those who perished on the White Star Line steamer (the Titanic), stands very little chance of ever collecting damages from the company, according to her attorney, C. C. Edwards, who has been working on the case for some little time.

According to Mr. Edwards, a New York court has issued what is known as a "manillon," restraining anyone from starting a suit for damages against the White Star Line, except in the court where the monition was issued. This makes it very difficult for many to start suit; the ruling, apparently, being wholly in favor of the company.

But this is by no means the worst part of it, he says. There is a law which says that a boat company is liable only for the extent of the salvage. In addition to this the heirs of a victim drowned in an accident like that of the Titanic, may recover the fares of the deceased victims.

Both of the Titanic, all the salvage was four life boats. The total value will not exceed $4,500. The total amount of fares paid for the ship amounted to $85,000. Thus, with the families of the victims may recover the amount of fare paid, which will be taken out of the $85,000, the total amount of damages which the company will be obliged to pay for will not exceed $4,500 salvage. Thus if a suit was entered by the relatives of each victim, they would receive as damages only their proportionate share of the $4,500. This fact will cause many people to drop their suits which they had begun as it would cost more to travel to New York and start the suit now there, than they could possibly get out of it. For this reason it is very probably that Mrs. Elsbury will drop all plans by starting a suit.

Shortly after the fatality, two or three suits were started in Chicago and it was this which caused Mrs. Elsbury to place her case in the hands of an attorney, and that suit be started. The monition issued in New York, however, speedily restrained these suits and it is very doubtful if any suits be started.

The death of Mr. Elsbury is recalled by all. He was returning from a trip to England and these passage on the maiden voyage of the Titanic. For a long time his fate was in doubt but that he was drowned. Mr. Elsbury was one of the best known farmers in Lake County.

MRS. HUGH BROGAN DEAD

Passes Away at Her Home in this Village New Year's Morning

On Wednesday morning, when the New Year was but a few hours old, death entered the home of Hugh Brogan and his wife and mother in that home was called to her reward.

For a number of years Mrs. Brogan has been in feeble health, being a sufferer from creeping paralysis and for a number of months was confined to her bed most of the time and her death was not unexpected.

Her maiden name was Catherine McManey and she was born in Ireland on the 29th day of May, 1846, and on the 22nd day of January, 1886, she was united in marriage to Hugh Brogan, at Cleveland, Ohio. Two years later they moved to Antioch township where they have since resided, on a farm east of town for many years, but for the past few years in the village of Antioch.

Mrs. Brogan is survived by her husband and 9 children, five sons, Ralph, John, Charles and William, of Antioch, and Tom of Chicago, and four daughters, Mrs. Ned Bates, Mrs. B. F. Nabor, Mrs. Geo. Yopp and Mrs. Florence all of Antioch.

The funeral services will be held at Catholic church tomorrow (Friday) morning at nine o'clock with interment in the Mill Creek cemetery.

The Country Editors Will Prosper When They Get All the Business of All the Country

They Won't Succeed by Trying to Help the Little Village Store to Fight Against Progress, to Fight the Parcel Post, or to Fight the Great Distributing Centers of the Nation

The Potter County Journal of Coudersport, Pennsylvania, publishes, under the heading "A Good Scheme," an interesting but, in our opinion, mistaken article as regards the future prosperity of the country editor and the attitude that he should maintain toward business on a big scale, including the mail order house and the parcels post.

The Coudersport editor quotes his contemporary, Mr. Peet of the Whitesville News and the Genesee Times, to the effect that a big mail order house will next year "establish branch stores in most of the States in the Union."

Editor Peet thinks that the big house will take advantage of the parcels post system and its zone features, to wipe out little stores.

The editor suggests that the merchants and the country editors must combine to combat the THREATENED INCREASE OF BUSINESS OF THE MAIL ORDER HOUSES AND ALSO THE EFFECT OF THE PARCELS POST.

Mr. Peet writes as follows:

"The country merchants has one friend—one who has for years fought without remuneration the battle of the country merchant against the mail order propaganda. That one sterling friend is the country editor. It is high time now that the home storekeeper go to his friend the editor and say: 'In you I see my one great hope of salvation. Let's you and I plan for the future. I will talk to my customers through your paper, and I will put up to them that they can get the same things of me as cheap, all things considered, as they can of the mail order house. I believe they will have more confidence in me if I advertise more consistently with what I expect in return.' The country editor, when approached thusly, will have more spirit to continue his fight on the mail order houses, and also will begin to realize in financial gain on what heretofore the country merchant has expected him to do for no pay."

Editor Peet is optimistic. He believes that if the country merchant puts his shoulder to the wheel with the country editor, Sears, Roebuck & Co., will notice a decrease in its business instead of an increase.

Sears, Roebuck & Co., have built up their large trade solely through extensive advertising. If the country merchant would follow the same tactics in proportion to his business in a short time he would be just as rich pro rata as Sears, Roebuck & Co."

This newspaper is interested in the welfare of the local merchants, a very big body of citizens, and in the welfare of the country editors, upon whose energy, intelligence, patriotism and freedom from harmful influences THIS COUNTRY DEPENDS FOR ITS GROWTH AND FOR THE STABILITY OF POPULAR GOVERNMENT.

We want most earnestly to impress upon editors throughout the country, and upon the storekeepers in small towns, that the problem of prosperity for newspaper or for storekeeper, CANNOT BE SOLVED BY OPPOSING MODERN SUCCESSFUL METHODS.

When the steam engine came along, and threatened to wipe out the stage coaches and the little inns along the stage coach routes, many plans were formed in villages and in the offices of the stage coach owners to oppose the railroads and overcome them.

They were FOOLISH plans. You can do nothing by OPPOSING progress. You can gain nothing by fighting against it. You must appropriate it and work with it.

If the editors throughout the country and the storekeepers throughout the country will combine, if they will USE the parcels post instead of opposing it, they will soon find themselves possessors of a new prosperity, and competitors on a real and a successful scale with the great mail order houses that have done so much injury of late years to the prosperity of the local merchant.

No mail order house can possibly succeed in a community as well as the local merchant, if the local merchant plans his business as intelligently and economically as is done by his big distant competitors.

Hitherto the great mail order houses have had the advantage in buying and distributing.

Manufacturers were compelled to deal through jobbers and mail order houses. They could not reach the consumer DIRECT.

But, WITH THE PARCELS POST AND THROUGH THE PARCELS POST, AND WITH THE AID OF THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER AND THE COUNTRY STOREKEEPER, MANUFACTURERS HEREAFTER WILL BE ABLE TO DEAL DIRECT WITH THE CONSUMERS, AND THE GREAT MAIL ORDER HOUSES WILL FIND THAT THEY HAVE REAL COMPETITION—AN EXCELLENT THING FOR EVERYBODY.

No little merchant can possibly carry the enormous stock, carried by the mail order house. And being unable to carry the stock under the old system, HE COULD NOT DELIVER IT. The mail order houses had the advantage of sending their goods by freight at a low price.

If the farmer ordered something light that did not make it worth while to ship by freight, he increased his order by adding to it cattle, or a plowshare, or something heavy enough to bring the weight of his shipment up to the minimum of freight shipping. He got the goods delivered very cheaply by the mail order house.

Under the parcels post, which will constantly improve, the light article can be shipped to the consumer at a minimum charge for shipment.

This will increase incidentally by tens and hundreds of millions annually the income of the railroads, although the presidents of such railroads, who are largely in the pay of express companies, do not realize that as yet.

With the parcels post working, the local merchant will have his CATALOGUES instead of a great stock in trade. The manufacturer will advertise through the local newspaper, and CREATE TRADE FOR THE LOCAL MERCHANT.

The merchant will have the catalogue. HE will be the agent. HE will be on the spot, KNOWING THE CITIZENS. HE will know the quality of goods and be able to guarantee them. And HE will be there to be questioned and to answer if the goods are not satisfactory.

The customer will come to him, give his order for the goods very gladly, and have the dealer make his profit, as he should make it. And the dealer will be able to have the goods shipped direct from the manufacturer, TO HIS OWN INDIVIDUAL CUSTOMERS, and the country dealer can have the goods sent, if he chooses, through the parcels post, with his own name fastened upon the parcel.

In other words, the local merchant can be, if he chooses, as big and as complete a merchant in his own community as any mail order house in the world.

He will have the catalogues of all the manufacturers. He will be able to take his commissions, and yet by developing his own trade, by advertising individually in the local newspapers, he will be able to take the order from his customer, send the order to the big manufacturer, have the goods delivered for him through the parcels post, AND AFTER MAKING HIS PROFIT HE WILL BE ABLE TO SELL THE GOODS AT LEAST AS CHEAPLY AS THE MAIL ORDER HOUSES CAN AFFORD TO SELL THEM and in many cases much more cheaply.

Let the country editors and the country storekeepers remember what experience in this country proves already—that work on a very great scale cannot be done as efficiently as on a smaller one with closer INDIVIDUAL attention.

The storekeeper who ATTENDS to his customer, who adjusts complaints and makes things right, who can give advice, and who, WITH THE PARCELS POST, will be able to deliver immediately anything that is ordered—in less than one-quarter of the time that the mail order houses have been delivering—that storekeeper, backed up by the country editor, will know a prosperity that he has never known.

For years the country editors have worked practically for nothing. They have had a little public advertising, and they have had miserable, underpaid advertisements from the local storekeepers, who could not afford to do better. They and the storekeepers have lived a hand to mouth existence. The editors of this country, some twenty thousand of them, supplying the public with information defeating the schemes of rascals and of public grafters, doing by DISTRIBUTION OF KNOWLEDGE the most important work in the country, have been on the whole less well paid than the average janitor in the court house of a fair sized town.

With the parcels post, and economical, efficient, intelligent advertising by local storekeepers and national manufacturers, that will change.

It will now be worth while for the big manufacturer to appeal direct to the consumer, FOR WITH THE PARCELS POST HE CAN DELIVER DIRECT TO THE CONSUMER.

We beg to inform the editor of the Potter County Journal, and our colleague Mr. Peet, of the Whitesville News and the Genesee Times, that prosperity is not to be gained by fighting against the parcels post or by helping the small storekeeper to fight the great mail order houses.

You must help the small storekeeper TO BEAT THE GREAT MAIL ORDER HOUSE WITH THE AID OF THE PARCELS POST.

Remember that every storekeeper, once the parcels post starts, is himself the center of a parcels post zone, which he will control.

It will do the big mail order house no goods to establish a department in each STATE, since the merchant in his own zone will be able to distribute his goods under the most advantageous possible circumstances.

Let the merchant take all the business he can get. And let the local editor take all the advertising he can get—including that of the big mail order houses, if they choose to advertise.

No man ever helped himself or helped another by excluding business, or refusing any man, big or little, a fair chance.

The editor has no right to refuse advertising that is honest and proper. No small storekeeper has a right to ask that it be excluded.

The business of the storekeeper is to give better service than the mail order house can give. AND HE CAN DO THAT NOW THAT THE PARCELS POST GIVES HIM THE POWER TO DELIVER.

The parcels post is here. This newspaper has predicted always that it would come soon. It is not perfect by any means. The local editors and the local storekeepers must use their influence to see that it is made perfect.

For the first time in our history, editors that are intelligent, throughout the country, will begin to receive a fair reward for the work that they do. And to say that the minimum of profit for the country editor of ability and character will be $6 annually for every subscriber to his newspaper is putting it very mildly.

Boon the parcels post; make it better; explain to your local storekeeper that through it he can deliver goods direct. HE can be the agent of the manufacturer, who has no time to start a mail order house, and no inclination to do it. Let the storekeeper advertise through the country newspapers what he can do.

Let the country newspapers impress upon the manufacturers the fact that they, the editor and country merchants are the only salesmen in direct contact with these that live in the country.

There is room for everybody in this country—that is to say, for everybody who intends to be of any SERVICE. And the mail order houses will live. But their great monopoly will cease.

Do not overlook the fact that they, being intelligent men, realize what we have told you here. They know that there is real danger for them in the parcels post. They know that it makes practically worthless their elaborate system of freight delivery, which they have built up through years. They know that their system of selling a hundred pounds of goods at a time in order to take advantage of a low freight rate now goes overboard.

If the merchants in the country and the local editors throughout the country, understood the parcels post as well as mail order houses understand it, they would know that the parcels post will prove to be the greatest blessing the country editors and country storekeepers have ever known.

With the parcels post the local merchants' prosperity must increase at once. And with the parcels post the country editor will, for the first time, come into his own. The parcels post will give to the country merchant a delivery system as good as that of the greatest city department store, and to the local editor full value for his important services to the nation.

EDITOR'S NOTE—The above article was first published in the New York Evening Journal, and copies of it were sent to the country newspapers, in order that it might be copied and thus a new light shed upon the "Parcels Post." Many of the country papers, the News included, have reprinted it so that those who are prone to believe that the new system will be the ultimate ruin of the small storekeeper, may see the other side of the question, and with the editor of the above we say, "By all means, fight the Parcels Post and not against it," for 'tis an old adage and true, that "With Their Own Weapons Ye Shall Be Slain."

PREVENTS SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Mrs. Elmer Hudson Sought 1st to Drink Bottle of Carbolic Acid

THEN SEEKS CHLOROFORM

Told Policeman She Sought Death Because Her Husband Had Taken Her Child Away

Mrs. Elmer Hudson, 315 south Sheridan road, Waukegan, according to the police made two unsuccessful attempts to commit suicide on Friday afternoon but in both instances her efforts were frustrated by her husband. She tried to drink a bottle of carbolic acid, and when this was taken from her, she would have drained a bottle of chloroform which she had raised to her when it was snatched from her hand.

Mrs. Hudson told a policeman that she had sought to take her own life because her husband had taken away her child and would not return it to her. She declared she would yet commit suicide unless her husband acceded to her wishes. She admitted that her husband had taken the child to the home of her sister.

Mr. Hudson is employed as a watchman for one of the factories under the hill. Friday afternoon about 5 o'clock before he started for work, it is said he had some words with his wife about the child. He is alleged to have told her that in his opinion the child would be better off with his wife's sister.

Hudson went into the kitchen and her husband following her there a few minutes later just in time to prevent her swallowing a quantity of carbolic acid. A little later he again came upon his wife as she was about to swallow the chloroform.

After destroying the contents of the two bottles the husband went out in search of a policeman and to the first one he met he declared that in his opinion his wife was temporarily insane and he wished to have her cared for before she harmed herself.

The policeman returned to the home and sought to soothe the woman. He exacted a promise from the husband that he would return the child.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson are well known in Waukegan and Mrs. Hudson's previous attempt to take her own life comes as a great surprise to many friends of the family.

MRS. GEO. BOOTH DEAD

Wife of Prominent Truist. It is likely to appear in large numbers upon the Atlantic coast as the cause of sorrow among her friends and neighbors.

Mrs. George Booth, who died last week, called up a caterpillar is rather common in the back yard of her home, on the verge of the new idea, spotted with friend to these in need under the happy faculty of spreading it, and about her, she was beloved by all.

Her death was the cause of sorrow among her friends and neighbors. The deceased whose maiden name was Ann Garland was born in Dorsetshire, England, March 6, 1836 and came to America with her parents in the year of 1844 and with them settling about three quarters of a mile north of Liberty Corners. On the fifth day of November 1854 she was united in marriage to Mr. George Booth, who survives her. She is also survived by two sisters and three brothers, one of whom is Frank Garland of this place.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at one o'clock, Rev. S. L. Rud having charge. The remains were laid at rest in the Liberty cemetery.

WOMAN'S ADVANTAGE IN LIFE

British Physicians of Prominence Give Some Figures That Explain Disparity Between the Sexes.

Though doctors have long realized that, thanks to a better knowledge of sanitation and personal hygiene, people are living longer than formerly, the much greater relative longevity of women as shown in the recently published British national debt office's report on the mortality of government life annuitants has come as a general surprise.

In a summary of these figures it was shown that the expectation of life of a woman of fifty is now more than a year greater than it was in 1875, while that of a man of the same age is only three months greater.

Discussing the reasons of our increasing longevity and in particular women's stronger hold on life, physicians at St. Bartholomew's hospital advanced widely different theories. "The essential cause of death," one stated, "is a wearing out from overwork of our brain cells. Women may be just as brainy as men, but they do not work their brain cells as vigorously or as continuously as do their male relatives. If they did there would not be so great a disparity in the length of life of the two sexes."

Another consultant puts down woman's greater expectation of life to the more sheltered existence she leads, and the lack of the physically depressing competition which is part of nearly every man's life. "A woman may have hard work to do," he explained, "but except for the few who work in offices or who follow professions, they work in their own homes, and at a pace they set for themselves. The home is also, as a rule, vastly more airy, sunny and generally more wholesome than is her husband's shop or office."

The funeral of the late Chris Plotz was held at the home Monday afternoon with Rev. Lowrie officiating. Mr. Plotz, with his wife and family came to Lake Villa nearly twenty years ago, and he found employment on the railroad and at the ice house, finally moving to the Edwin Wilton farm west of Lake Villa, about 4 or 5 years ago where he died. His wife died several years ago. He has been a sufferer for some time, and a short time ago, had an operation performed in hopes of recovery, but it was not successful.

Why, the country is so poor, thought disquietedly. And I answered rather coldly: "Sorry, you know, no idea." And I opened the door wide. But the old rascal never moved; just stood there, chuckling horribly.

"Well, she'll be back in the end," I said. "And see here, old fellow, I'm demonstrating to you if you don't mind."

"Oh, I say, you know," I started forenoon and always finds a long line of patients waiting to consult him.

"By Jove, I hardly knew what to do!" He grinned significantly, pipes, marble basin, or porcelain tub at hand.

"Just say you want a minute, sir," It now came to him to accept my challenge.

Cheap Medical Treatment.

There is a little medical mission in the East end of London which in the last ten years has treated a quarter of a million patients at a fee of four cents each. A physician attends to give advice and medical assistance every day from 11:30 to 12:30 in the forenoon and from 2:30 to 3:30 in the afternoon.

By Jove, I hardly knew what to do! He grinned significantly, pipes, marble basin, or porcelain tub at hand.

Reveries.

Things do not always go smoothly when five-year-old John dresses himself. "What's the matter, sonny-boy?" asked his mother one morning, as she heard a discouraged sigh.

John surveyed himself with a puzzled frown. "How does it happen?" he inquired tragically. "I've put on these overalls three times, and every time I get 'em on backwards beforehand!"

Needs a Nickname.

If it is true that a taxicab in Athens is called a polypolyantiochaeatharomaxo, we should think that before you got through calling it, it might be out of sight.

Etzel, who was ten years old, was studying in geographical reader, and learning the fish are placed in brine before they are dried and prepared for sale.

For explaining that brine is very strong salt water, the teacher asked why the fish were placed in it. Etzel's face was illuminated with sudden understanding, and she promptly replied: "because they are used to salt water—YOUTH'S COMPANION."

Device to Frighten Baboons. A novel method of trying to get rid of the baboon nuisance in the Grand-rinet district, Cape Colony, was recently put into operation by a farmer. This man conceived the idea of getting rid of the nuisance by capturing a full-grown male baboon, dressing him in all the colors of the rainbow, putting a sheep-bell round his neck, and turning him loose to join the troop to which he belongs. The farmer believes that by so doing there will be no baboons seen in his neighborhood for a good many years.

Concise Epistles.

Talleyrand could write a short letter. When a woman wrote to inform him of the death of her husband, he simply replied: "Chere Marquise, helas!" And among official dispatches there is that of Sir George Walton, who, after an engagement with the Spanish fleet, wrote: "Sir: I have taken or destroyed all the Spanish ships within margin. Yours, etc." And a later instance was the complaint of Cecil Rhodes that Dr. Jim had upset the apple cart.

Coping Our Games.

France would compete with us in baseball, and now Sweden comes to study American intercollegiate football, planning to introduce the art of punts and pass plays up toward the northern legs. American sports are becoming internationalized. Is the course of empire now taking an eastward course and will our diamond and our green become, like our government, an admiration of older nations?
